THE BACKDROP

There is no aspect of life that the devastating COVID-19 pandemic has not touched upon, eroding into each and every domain of meaningful activity, posing a big challenge and, of course, a choice too, to rebuild ourselves!

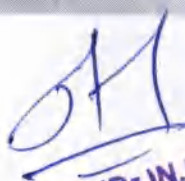

Education and Health are, perhaps, the worst sufferers in the process, disorganizing and disorienting all the established norms and systems of day-to-day life. However, Teaching and Learning have found a silver lining in the cloud, taking the hitherto less-used ONLINE TEACHING route, as in almost all the countries of the world, leading the way to innovation, creativity and ingenuity in their approach to education delivery.

In this novel journey, we have never wasted our time, conducting a big series of webinars and online lectures throughout last year, benefiting hundreds of teachers and scholars. The present FDP is one more such humble attempt at the noble cause of continuing education!

We are immensely grateful to all the highly qualified, experienced and reputed senior professors and speakers for their guidance, encouragement and ready acceptance to address us on various far-reaching aspects of TL & E. Now it is upto you to grab the opportunity to refresh and reorient yourselves by participating in thought-provoking FDP!

Thank you
